As 2016 draws to a close, MER-AIR-TERRE is delighted to present its latest creation in watch-making, produced in a limited edition: the automatic electric watch MATWATCHES AG7 XL Limited Edition.

MATWATCHES is constantly seeking new and distinctive designs, and once again it is enhancing its High-Command range with two new models with unique design features, understated and refined, elegant in appearance yet undeniably sporty.

This watch is set in a stainless steel casing, 316L by 42.5mm diameter, with a polished bezel and sapphire crystal treated to be anti-reflective and non-scratch. Its ergonomic shape and short and integrated lugs offer a perfect fit to the wrist so that its owner will forget they are wearing it. Its crown, bearing the MATWATCHES logo and its screw-fitted case back give it waterproofness of up to 200 metres. The words 'Edition Speciale' engraved on the caseback reinforce the unique character of this timepiece.

As for its movement, the AG7 XL is equipped with an automatic electric motor. Its oscillating weight is used to recharge an accumulator which enables it, when recharged, to function for approximately 120 days.

For the dial, this independent watch-maker has this time revisited their traditional 2-4-8-10 to offer users greater readability.

Protected by a 2.7mm-thick glass, the dial shows the date at three o'clock, echoing the time markers, being discreet without losing an ounce of its legibility. Markers and hands are legible in every situation, including at night and in the water, thanks to the luminescent material with which they are coated.

More informations about MATWATCHES

MATWATCHES has been the leading French company in the manufacture of military watches for ten years. This watchmaker, based right in the heart of Paris near Place de la Madeleine specialises in the design and manufacture of bespoke editions of mechanical Swiss watches with automatic winding for professional clients.

“Exclusive collaborations with and for professionals such as the RAID (anti-terrorist unit), the Foreign Legion in 2013 and US Naval Aviation in 2015”

The authenticity of the military roots of our company is reflected in the design of our watches. Uncompromising in their conception, understated and pared down, the MER-AIR-TERRE (SEA-AIR-LAND) watches are greatly prized by keen collectors of watches who appreciate fine workmanship.

The excellence and high standards of the Special Forces are seen in the values of our brand and disseminated by the “happy few” who wear our watches. Today our club includes several thousand members, ambassadors from the world of sport, cinema and the media such as Bruce Dickinson, Bixente Lizarazu, Damien Chouly etc.

To meet the very rigorous specifications of these elite pieces, we use proven Swiss mechanical movements with automatic winding, of great craftsmanship and recognised for their qualities of precision and reliability (ETA 2824-2, ETA 2893-2, Valjoux 7750).

Robustness, high level of readability and discretion are the keywords of this independent French brand. Qualities which are based on confirmed technical characteristics such as the “DESTRO” award for the watch created in 2011 for bomb disposal experts in civil security.

The MER-AIR-TERRE company bases its claims on the action on the wrists of the members of the French Special Forces, on the performance of these all-terrain timepieces, tested and passed with flying colours in the most extreme situations. We export to Japan, USA, SINGAPORE INDONESIA, etc., while retaining a very restricted distribution chain with a network of exclusive boutiques and extremely attractive fixed prices.

All our watches are automatic, equipped with anti-reflective scratchproof sapphire crystal glass, with a screw-down crown and case-back and are watertight to 200 or 300 metres.
